DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-6 and 8-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ishikawa. Note Figure 1 showing first EGR passage (10) upstream of turbocharger (2) with control valve (12) and cooler (11), second EGR passage (20) downstream of turbocharger with control valve (23) and cooler (22), an exhaust gas/air mixture cooler (7), and an exhaust gas treatment device (4).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 25, 30-32 and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sumser et al in view of Ishikawa. Sumser et al discloses the claimed invention in Figure 1 with EGR passage (26) and control valves (31) and (32); however a cooler to cool the EGR is not disclosed. Ishikawa teaches that it is known to provide an EGR cooler (22) for cooling the exhaust gas before mixing with intake air before the compressor as shown in Figure 1. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the EGR system of Sumser et al by providing an EGR cooler as taught by Ishikawa in order to maintain a reduced temperature of the intake air before being compressed.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 7, 26-29 and 33 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 12-24 are allowed.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The references of Pischinger, Pfluger, Arnold and Criddle et al are cited to show EGR mixing with air before entering the compressor of a turbocharger.
